Thinking & Problem Solving

Answer to Problem B

The answer is that you would arrange them at the vertices and cross points of a five-pointed star.

If students solve this before you provide the answer, ask them how they arrived at the solution.

Often they will say that they recast the problem and focused on the number five, associating it with a five-pointed star